Make Your Own Planetarium

Bay Area youngsters will have the opportunity to show off the stars to their family and friends with their own planetarium show this summer.

"Have Your Own Planetarium Show" is just one of several unique astronomy activity classes offered this summer for the general public by the Lawrence Hall of Science in Berkeley.

"We have programs for every age from first grade through adult, and even for the entire family," says Dr. Alan Friedman, Director of Astronomy Education at the Hall. "Make Your Own Planetarium Show was developed in response to the frequent request at our public shows, 'Can I operate the star machine?'"

The class will start with an introduction to astronomy, but about halfway through, the youngsters, age 9 to 13, will learn how to operate the planetarium themselves. Then they will decide what facets of the universe they are interested in, and develop presentations of what they have learned using slides, special effects, and the star projector itself. At the end of the class, the youngsters will present their own shows for families and friends.

Another course at the Hall has been designed to encourage families to learn about astronomy together. "Family Astronomy: From Hydrogen to You" will present a general introduction to the universe, with telescope viewing of the objects discussed at each Friday evening session. After the planetarium lecture, the class will move outside to view the moon, planets, star or galaxies that have been mentioned that evening. Each week a different aspect of the changing universe will be presented. In case of bad weather a laboratory session will be held.

The fee for non-members is $2.50 for each individual session and $17 for the entire series. For members it is $2 for individual sessions and $14 for the series.

Other classes this summer will include an adult course on ideas of how the universe was created (and might end), a seminar for teens on the nature of the galaxies and a special program called "Astronomy for Girls."

Tuition for these classes ranges from $14 to $50, and advance registration is advised. Phone 642-5132 for a free class brochure listing summer science courses in many fields, or to reserve a place in any of the classes.

City Council

Council Sets Hearings On Proposed Charter Revision

Public hearings on four charter amendments proposed by the Charter Review Committee were set for August 5 and 12 at the Monday night Council meeting.

Amendments one and two put a limitation of two successive terms in office for both City Councilmen and Board of Education members. Then the member would be ineligible to run for office until one full term of four years had elapsed.

The third proposed amendment would change the compensation for City Councilmen from $3 per meeting attended to $30 per meeting attended with a maximum of $150 in any one month.

According to Lewis Bell, Chairman of the Charter Review Committee, the committee felt that this was more of a proper compensation for a City Councilman.

This amendment also allows that each member of the Council would be reimbursed for necessary expenses incurred while performing his duties. To be reimbursed the Councilman would have to file an accounting of his expenses with the City Clerk.

Advances would also be made by permission of the Council for authorized conferences and special meetings. After expenses any money remaining from the advance would be returned.

The last proposed amendment would change the Charter so that Board of Education members may be compensated for their duties.

Both hearings will be held at 8 p.m. in the Council Chambers prior to the regular City Council meeting.

If any or all of these charter amendments pass the City Council they will be placed on the November 5 ballot to be voted on by the people.

The Council also called for a special City Council meeting to be held Saturday, August 10 at 11 a.m. in Memorial Park to discuss how money should be spent on Albany Parks.

It was also moved and passed that the Park and Recreation Commission work session be scheduled at this time also so that they could bring their staff recommendations as to how money should be spent on Memorial Park.

"As a Commissioner, I think this is an excellent idea," said Park and Recreation Commissioner William Woolworth. Ac

According to Woolworth public input would give the commission a much better idea of what is needed.

Car and conference allowances were once again a subject of debate as the Council voted 3-2 to lower the maximum allotment for the car allowance from $90 to $50 per month.

This now means that all city employees are reimbursed at a rate of 15 cents per mile with a maximum for City Councilmen of $50, for Planning and Zoning of $15 and Park and Recreation Commissioners of $10.

Councilman Hubert Call and George Hein were opposed to this change, claiming that a flat car allowance rate for City Councilmen would be more practical because of the difficulty of keeping track of the mileage.

They were the two dissenting votes.

The Council held over one week an ordinance that would change the per diem compensation due to loss of time from work from $35 per day to $50 per day. The ordinance became so involved because of several amendments that time was needed to straighten it out.

Two ordinances were passed on their first reading. One would raise the property transfer tax from $1.10 to $2.20 per $1000 of equity on a piece of property. The other ordinance would approve a 15 cent increase on the horse race admissions tax at Golden Gate Fields.

Councilman Griffin pointed out that the increased transfer tax would be a minimal amount on any one property owner and that this would fairly disburse the tax burden.

In other action, the Council:

CONFIRMED the appointment of E. C. van Eckhardt to the Parks and Recreation Commission.

REFERRED a communication from Mrs. Gertrude Garden concerning apartments for older citizens and a communication from the Alameda County Planning Department regarding housing for low and moderate income persons to the Public Hearing to be held on the Albany General Plan.

APPROVED payment of claims in the amount of $41,031.03; authorized the Administrative Officer to have the D. A. Sargent & Company proceed with the annual audit of city transactions for the just completed fiscal year.

AUTHORIZED the city attorney to write a letter to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District requesting that the district cut down the noise produced by the BART cars as they go through Albany by the installation of noise restrainers.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:40 p.m. in memory of former Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon who died in a Portland, Oregon hospital Monday morning of kidney and heart failure.
